To the Hon. Harvey Copperman, Esq.
Dean, The Legal international evaluation Society law school

[redacted]

Dear close personal friend:

It was a great pleasure to meet you last week at the monthly weeklong convention of law school deans hosted at the [redacted] Hotel in downtown Bali. I'm not sure what was accomplished but I think that the government and tuition money we spent was worth it as surely you have returned to your institution of higher education more learned in some regards.

I enjoyed visiting local amenities in your company although some have resulted in pharmaceutical expenses for which I do not hold you responsible.

I want to thank you for your forceful and adamant inquiry about your law school ranking. I can confirm by copy of this letter that your law school is one of the best law schools on this planet. Indeed, my own daughter is a student of your law school and we could have sent her anywhere.

In any event, I understand that you need this letter for the purposes of LIES law school advertising and for no other purpose or possibly for the solicitation of further government funds from the relevant ministry of education. Of course it has nothing to do with your ranking but still, I should thank you for the prompt payment of your $100,000 annual membership fees to the I.S.C.R.S.R.B.L.S.E.R.

I look forward to seeing you next month at our meeting which I understand will be hosted in Las Vegas. I'm at the Wynn, FYI.

I should perhaps also add that in the event that any authentication of this letter is required for any purposes whatsoever, that said authentication may be taken to be perfected upon the mere imprinting of this letter onto one or several computer monitor screens at any location whatsoever. I appreciate this is a bit risky and may call into question the credibility of copies of this letter but I also understand that anybody reading this letter is likely trustworthy and not a rabble-rouser the likes of which we would not want to have in our profession anyway.

Sincerely,

(original signed)
